CLARK'S ARMY STORMS INTO LUCCA

Rome.—American troops of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army stormed today into the town of Lucca, a stronghold of the Germans' Gothic line across northern Italy, while the Allied Eighth Army drove the enemy from the high ground approaches to the Marano river. Stiff fighting continued through the morning, however, with the Nazis hinging their defenses on the town of Coriano in the Adriatic sector. The Eighth Army, left in the wake of the Canadian units attacking northwest of Disano, took a half dozen small Adriatic coastal towns. The Fifth Army, moving ahead in the central sector and on the right flank, captured the heights of Mount Albano, six miles short of the important strategic center which is the main objective of Clark's forces.

AMERICAN PATROLS CROSS GERMAN BORDER

S. H. A. E. F.—American patrols were revealed today to have crossed the German border, ranged several miles inside German territory and then returned across the Moselle river to the main American lines. Troops of Lieut. Gen. Patton's Third Army, meanwhile, swarmed across the Moselle river despite heavy artillery fire from the German side, as bitter fighting flared up along the Moselle front. I. N. S. staff correspondent Pierre J. Huss, with the Third Army, reported that the Germans were putting up increasingly severe resistance in order to gain time for manning their Siegfried line defenses, where they are expected to make a major stand. Meanwhile, Lieut. Gen. Patch's Seventh Army, driving up the Saone Valley of central France, was reported less than 50 miles from a junction with Patton's forces. In Belgium, the Allies have occupied Gent (Ghent).

Free Engineer In Death Of Ananias A. Sellers

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 6.—Edwin A. Hermann, of Doylestown, was exonerated by a coroner's jury at the end of the week in the death of Ananias A. Sellers, New Britain. Sellers was struck by a train operated by Hermann on the Reading Railroad a mile from Sellers' home. Trooper Leland Emory, Penna. State Police, was the only witness besides Engineer Hermann to appear at the inquest held by Coroner J. Alfred Rigby, Sr., Cornwells Heights. Emory testified that he had talked with Sellers the day before his death and noted that his hearing and sight were very good for a man 76 years of age. The trooper also described the scene of the incident and the position of the body. Hermann testified that he left Doylestown with the train at 7.45 a. m., and that he saw Sellers come out of some bushes and walk toward the track. He stated that he literally was hanging on to the whistle, but that Sellers continued toward the track and that when he saw that he was not stopping he applied both the brakes and the emergency brake. He did not see the car actually strike Sellers as he was on the opposite side of the track.

The finding of the jury was "that Ananias A. Sellers came to his death accidentally on July 11, 1944, when struck by a Reading Company train operated by Edwin A. Hermann in Bucks County, Penna. We hereby exonerate Edwin A. Hermann from all blame." Members of the Coroner's jury were Edward B. VanSant, Harold Hellyer, Horace M. Mann, Wilmer Lowmes, Clarence Irwin and Leroy Brown.

LETTERS TO AN AMERICAN FAMILY

No. 1
(Doylestown Intelligencer, Sept. 6th)

Dear John and Mary Citizen:—

It occurred to me after our brief chat on politics that you might be interested in having me set down some of the things which were in my mind when I made the remark which started the fireworks.

You remember of course what I said: "The average American citizen would certainly be against the New Deal if he realized how bad its effects have been upon him personally."

John, with his usual good humor but rather sharply just the same, retorted: "The big effect on me is that I work shorter hours for better pay, with a government check to tide me over if I lose my job."

Neither of you seemed to understand what I meant when I replied: "That's not the end of the story—it's only the beginning."

Now, I'd like to tell you the rest of the story, or perhaps I should say the other side of the story.

This would be a waste of time if I didn't know that your minds are open—that you are reading the newspapers and listening to the radio and talking things over with your friends whenever you have a chance; that you really are trying very hard, just like millions of other citizens, to decide whether the country would be better off if President Roosevelt were retired now, after his record-breaking twelve years in the presidency, and Gov. Dewey given a trial.

As you know, I've been interested in politics since I was a kid. It runs in the family. Some of my earliest recollections are torchlight processions and open-air political rallies while father was running for office, and the "shivarees" which would be held outside the homes of victorious candidates.

Since then it has been my good fortune to be fairly close to politics. As you know, a good deal of my newspaper experience and other occupations have taken me behind the scenes of various campaigns and administrations.

I don't mention these things with the idea you ought to take my word, blindly, about anything in politics. Both of you have too much commonsense to let anyone else make your judgments for you, especially on anything so important as the election this year.

But if you were going traveling, especially into a new and strange country, it would be helpful to have with you someone who had been there before. He could point out the things of interest which you might otherwise miss, and take you to the places you would want to visit by the shortest routes.

O'Neill was taken a prisoner and then came the march back to the "Jap" prison camp, known to many as the "March of Death." During this march and while in camp the most horrible means of torture imaginable were endured by the prisoners. O'Neill and several other fellows escaped from this camp.

Burlington Lad Rescued By Two Bristol Youths

The final day of summer vacation for two local school boys gave them a chance yesterday to put their swimming prowess to good use.

The two, Joseph McClain, 14, of Chestnut street, and Paul Melvin, 12, of Garden street, saved a Burlington, N. J., youth from drowning in the Delaware River.

The lad who was aided to shore by the Bristol boys informed him that he is James Stinson, aged 12. Stinson had been swimming about a boat a distance off-shore. As he started back he called for aid, yelling to those on the bank "I can't make it!" McClain and Melvin lost no time in reaching his side and pulled him ashore near the home of the Elks Lodge. Although conscious, Stinson required sometime to regain his breath and rest. He was then advised to go to his home at once.

He was accompanied by another Burlington lad, who was able to care only for himself when Stinson found himself in such a plight. The two stated that the tide was quite strong and difficult to battle at the time.

Draft May Continue To Take 75,000 Monthly

Washington—Congressional and Selective Service sources indicated today that the Draft may continue to take 75,000 to 100,000 men a month for some time after the defeat of Germany. Publication of the War Department's plan for partial demobilization of the Army upon the X-day collapse of the Nazis raised the question of the future course of Selective Service when America's total military might is swung against the Japanese.

Draft director Lewis B. Hershey and high army officers who discussed the demobilization plan with members of the House Military Affairs Committee gave evidence that selective service will continue to operate with calls almost as big as at present.

The Congressmen were informed that the induction of nearly every man under 26 years of age may be necessary. This means principally the drafting of the 60,000 to 80,000 youths becoming 18 each month, since most others under 26 have been called. Some deferred war workers probably will be released for military duty by X-day production cut-backs. It was indicated that 75,000 to 100,000 draftees a month may be required to bring the Navy to peak-strength, replace casualties and release veterans entitled to demobilization as result of combat duty and several years' service.

Pvt. Howard L. Zepp, Jr., son of the Rev. and Mrs. Howard L. Zepp, of Winder Village, has been assigned to the AAF Training Command Radio School at the Sioux Falls Army Air Field, Sioux Falls, S. D., for training as a radio operator-mechanic.

Upon completion of a 20-week course, he will be fully trained to take his place as a member of a highly skilled bomber crew of the Army Air Forces.

Pvt. Zepp was a plexiglas inspector at Rohm & Haas Co. plant. He graduated from Temple University High School, Philadelphia, in 1936; and attended Wake Forest College until entering the service.

TOWEL RESTRICTION

In this most horrible of all wars, soldiers and sailors shed their blood and civilians shed tears and exude sweat. That was the program promised by the leaders of the Allies when they informed the world that they were adamant in their determination to rid the earth for all time of the scourge of the aggressors.

But to read of the latest attack of the War Manpower Commission, it might be thought that the WMC had not even heard that civilians sweat and cry during the war, or to put the phrase into basic English, that they shed eye water and face water. Otherwise how could the WMC have put into effect hotel restrictions which limit the guest to two face towels and to one bath towel a day?

One of the pleasant features of a modern hotel is the imposing array of face and bath towels to be found in the bathroom. At least, they are to be found there in ordinary times—say, between world wars. A hotel guest, returning from a day of "selling customers" or sightseeing, thinks first of removing from his person the grime and soot of the city and he looks with admiration upon a spic and span bathroom with its files of towels. After that he might have a drink and enjoy the hotel room itself.

Hotel architects still put most of their skill into planning courtly lobbies rather than into the designing of guest rooms, and while the latter are comfortable they are not all places of striking beauty. But how will the hotel guest view his passing abode now that bath and face towels are restricted to one and two daily, respectively?

The guest, grimy and sweaty from the burdens of the day, must contemplate using a bath towel still soggy from his morning ablution. He might still have a dry towel for his face, depending upon how the morning shaving went and whether he had a hangover when he brought the razor over the precipice of his protruding chin.

The more one thinks of this latest WMC dictum, the more speculative he is certain to become. Did the Office of Defense Transportation, which has had little luck in cutting down civilian travel, incite the War Manpower Commission to issue the order? If so, it is a stroke of genius—it might lead travelers to carry extra bath and face towels and do their own washing, thus relieving the overworked laundries. Or perhaps the WMC thinks the European war is drawing to a close and that the quantity of sweat and tears is about to be reduced.

Much was expected of Turkey when it broke with the Axis. To date her only move has been to get a chair ready to be pulled up to the peace table.

American citizens collected $75,000,000 in incomes during the first six months of 1944. Looks like a bad winter for the wolf at the door.

Partial Demobilization Of Armies Planned

have first priority to be transported to the Pacific fronts.

4. Troops suited to Pacific warfare, no matter where now stationed, will remain in service as long as they are essential.

5. Most of the present air force and the service force will be transferred to the Pacific fronts.

6. American troops will remain in inactive war zones in Europe in order to fulfill such occupation duties as are necessary.

7. Veterans of the Pacific war will benefit by the collapse of Germany and those with long service will be replaced by fresh troops from the states or Europe.

8. Demobilization of the WAC will follow the same pattern as that for the fighting forces, except that WACS whose husbands have been discharged will be released upon application.

The War Department, in the dramatic report, warned of some delay in the return of troops from Europe to the United States because ships will be needed to move "millions of fighting men" to the Pacific for the final assault against Japan.

The report also made no estimate of the number of soldiers to be discharged when Germany collapses.

"It is emphasized that the rate of return of surplus men from overseas will depend upon the number of ships available," the War Department said.

"Thousands of ships will be required to supply the Pacific theater. The Pacific theater will have Number One priority. All else must wait. To it will be transported millions of fighting men, millions of tons of landing barges, tanks, planes, guns, ammunition and food, over longer supply lines than those to Europe.

As replacements become available from the ground forces and from new inductees the air and service forces "will discharge a fair share of men proportionate with the ground forces."

It was stated that surplus individuals declared non-essential to the needs of the army will be discharged through separation centers. Five of such centers are already in operation and additional ones will be set up when the need develops.

"A total of 18 in all parts of the country are contemplated," the War Department said. "Their wide distribution will enable us to discharge soldiers close to their homes."

The War Department explained that the successful operation of the morning orange juice was served each one. At noon-time the cook plan requires that the troops themselves as well as the public be kept fully informed. It was pointed out that some men who might otherwise be released may be transferred hurriedly to the Pacific with a particular unit needed in that area.

"If military necessity should entail the immediate transfer of a unit to the Pacific, there may conceivably be no time to apply the plan to men of that unit before the emergency transfer is made," the War Department said. "Consideration will be given these men when they arrive in the new theater."

The War Department said that the military establishment that will be needed after the defeat of Germany "has been calculated with the same exactness as the size of the army needed up to now." The War Department concluded:

"No soldier will be kept in the military service who is not needed to fulfill these requirements. No soldier will be released who is needed."

"It must be borne in mind" always that the war will not be won, nor the peace enjoyed, until Japan has been completely crushed."

Downward Trend Continues In Public Aid Cases

The downward trend continues in the number of families seeking public aid in Pennsylvania, according to information given out by the Department of Public Assistance.

During July 4,869 applications for assistance were received in the 67 county assistance offices, a decrease of 369 from the previous month, it is said.

Bucks County during July had a total of 766 cases, with a total of 964 persons.

One hundred and five were receiving blind pensions at that time.

Later O'Neill was transferred to an American cruiser and taken to Sydney, Australia. A little later he was sent to England. Due to his experience in fighting he was sent to take part in the African campaign, and on Hill 609 received his third wound of the war.

If you are waiting for a home telephone, we think we know how you feel. You'd like a telephone now, not weeks or months from now. And we'd like to install it for you now.

But so long as the needs of war have first claim on telephone facilities—and until the manufacture of adequate equipment can be resumed—it just won't be possible to avoid delays in filling telephone orders.

Meanwhile, we are finding an attitude of co-operation and understanding on your part that is genuinely appreciated by all of us.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Arthur D. Sarkis
Pastor
Eddington Presbyterian Church
Eddington

Dear Father, we thank thee for the completeness of our salvation in Jesus Christ. As our Saviour He redeems our souls; as our Physician He redeems our bodies and as our Teacher He redeems our minds. With the opening of our schools we thank thee for secular education. We thank thee for its goal of high character; moral rectitude and more perfect human relations. We sincerely pray that the goal of life may become the goal of both secular and Christian education, namely, to "Fear God, and keep his commandments; for this is the whole duty of man." To that Scriptural end we commend our children to thy fatherly care. We beseech thee that thy Spirit may dwell in their hearts. Give to parents and teachers understanding hearts, that they may lead the young in thy ways throughout this new school year. Hear us, Lord Jesus. Amen.

CHI-CHES-TERS work wonders for me!"

Instead of feeling miserable on my "difficult days", now I take the new Chi-Ches-Ters Pills. The new Chi-Ches-Ters have a special ingredient which is intended to relieve the tension that causes functional distress. It works by relaxing the affected part, not merely by deadening pain. It's a good preparation for simple periodic distress. The new Chi-Ches-Ters contain an added iron factor—which acts as a tonic on your blood. Another reason they usually satisfy. Next month, be sure to try the new Chi-Ches-Ters Pills. Ask your druggist tomorrow for a 50c size, and follow directions carefully.

GIRLS' ALL-STARS OUT FOR REVENGE; TO PLAY TRENTON

Game To Be Played Tomorrow Night on High School Field Here

STARTS AT 6 O'CLOCK

Trenton Team Won Last Game So Bristol Is Eager For Victory

With revenge in their eyes, the Bristol All-Stars girls' softball team will return to the Bristol high school field tomorrow evening to meet the Trenton All-Stars. Game will begin at six o'clock.

The Trenton All-Stars conquered the Bristolians, 7-3, on Wetzel Field, Trenton, last week. It was the local's only defeat of the curtailed season so George T. Moran, president of the Girls' Industrial Softball Association, who is in charge of the bookings for the Bristol lassies, immediately arranged for a return game here.

Captain Theresa Gallagher, also the third-sacker, will lead the localites in their efforts to avenge last week's loss and also add a win to the list which includes the SPARS and the Women's Reserve, U. S. Marines. It was announced last night that Stella Klemczak will do the hurling for Bristol with Rita McHugh being her battery mate. Manager Frank Field is undecided on the remainder of his line-up.

The Trenton team is composed of players from the Trenton Industrial and the Trenton Playground League. It is a hard-hitting array from top to bottom as was evidenced in last week's contest when the Jersey lassies made several extra base hits.

made possible by the magnificent production job done by our farmers and by the processors of food," said Byrnes, who also congratulated Jones on the accomplishments of WFA.

"Despite the heavy requirements we have had to meet in supplying food to our armed forces and our Allies, the people at home will in 1944 consume about seven or eight percent more food than they did in the pre-war 1935-39 period," he continued.

Jones said it is inevitable that there will be surplus stocks of food when the war ends, just as there will be surplus guns, planes and tanks.

"Much of this food is of a perishable or semi-perishable nature," he said. "While some surpluses and some losses will be inevitable, we feel that all reasonable steps should be taken to bring as much of this food as possible into the channels of use, and to avoid, as far as it is practicable to do so, any accumulation of excess stocks or waste of food."

Court Plans To Dispose Of 24 Cases at Session

Elizabeth S. Wessaw, of Middletown Township, from Leroy Harry Wessaw, of Langhorne, on grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment. They were married September 26, 1938, at Elkton, Md.

Ward L. Watt, of 616 Pond street, Bristol, from Kathryn Estelle Watt, on grounds of desertion.

Joseph V. Ventura, of Bristol township, from Frances F. Ventura, of New York, on grounds of indignities to the person and cruel and barbarous treatment. They were married July 25, 1943, at New York City.

Susie E. Smith, of 173 Washington street, Doylestown, from William E. Smith, Buckingham township, on grounds of indignities to the person. They were married September 9, 1918, at Doylestown.

Dorothy Dawson Taifer, Doylestown, from Edgar Taifer, Doylestown, on grounds of indignities to the person. They were married April 8, 1924, at Klamath Falls, Oregon.

Myrtle S. Vearrindy, of 1 East Center avenue, Willow Grove, from George P. Vearrindy, of South Main street, Doylestown. They were married June 1, 1935, at Doylestown.

Judge Hiram H. Keller, sitting as chancellor in equity court yesterday in the adjudication of the case of the Rubber Processing Company, of Chester, against MacEwan & Smith, Inc., of Doylestown, handed down a decree nisi in which the court disallowed the defendant's counter-claim and directed that the Doylestown rubber plant of MacEwan & Smith, defendants, pay the costs of the suit.

The plaintiff asked for an accounting and such further equitable relief as the facts would warrant. The claim was based upon two agreements for royalties to be paid by the defendant for the exclusive license to use a secret process known as the "adhesion process" for causing rubber to adhere to metal. The defendant filed an answer and counter-claim.

Judge Keller ruled that the defendant pay to the plaintiff its share of the net profits for the year ended December 31, 1942, the sum of $4,030, with interest. The court also ruled that the defendant file a revised accounting to the plaintiff in accordance with the chancellor's conclusions for the year ended December 31, 1942.

Judge Keller yesterday handed down an opinion in the case of the United Sand & Gravel Company against the Bucks County Commissioners, an appeal from the decision of the Commissioners acting as a board of revision of taxes for 1943. Judge Keller sustained the appeal and the action of the County Commissioners in reducing the assessment of the lots enumerated in the appeal from $200 to $100 each.

In the Orphans' Court, Judge Keller handed down an opinion in the case of Estate of Henry M. Heist, late of Milford township—a petition to terminate a trust. The court directed that the petition of Florence M. Hazlett to terminate the trusts mentioned and the principal thereof to be paid to the petitioner is denied, and the proceedings were ordered dismissed.

Lower Bucks Countians On Army Hospital Personnel

Two lower Bucks Countians are among the personnel of one of the U. S. Army hospitals in England where American soldiers wounded in France undergo treatment as capable and modern as any first class civilian hospital in the world.

They are: PFC James J. Winder, Fallsington; and Pvt. Harry F. Stradling, Sr., Morrisville.

The hospital has a special distinction, however, it is said, inasmuch as it serves as a clearing station for badly wounded soldiers who are en route to the United States for extended periods of treatment necessary to prepare them for civilian life again.

It is the duty of the hospital's medical and surgical staff to make certain that every man leaving the hospital has already been embarked on therapy which is to be continued in the United States.

ized to attend a convention of educators in Harrisburg October 4th and 5th.

The treasurer was authorized to transfer $10,498.75 from the general fund to the sinking fund to mature bonds and pay interest.

Robert C. Ruehl, chairman of property committee, reported on the completion of improvements at the Bath street building.

They decided to advertise for bids for painting the interior and exterior of the Washington street school building.

It was reported that the Wood street building had been re-wired and that the arrival of new lighting fixtures was being awaited.

A check for $50 for the proposed new athletic field was received as a gift from the Class of 1944.

The Board appropriated the sum of $100 to the fund of the proposed athletic field in lieu of gift books which are usually made to the graduating class, but which were omitted this year.

A letter of appreciation was received from the Hunter Manufactturing Company for use of the high school field.

Uses of the high school building for Penn State classes on Monday and Wednesday evenings was granted for extension classes. Registration will be received September 25th and 26th.

It was reported that all heating boilers had been inspected and found to be in good condition.

The use of the high school for drills of the Civil Aeronautic Patrol was approved.

"During the night many shapeless, obscure forms of transports and landing craft were overtaken and left behind in the darkness as we moved into our forward and final position. Angry rumblings of bomb bursts and flashes of fire came from the distant area as bombers unloaded their deadly cargo. Swarms of bombers, fighters and troop transport planes dived overhead passing to and from the engaged area.

"When the skies began to glow just before dawn, we found ourselves surrounded with ships and landing craft of all descriptions, while the shores of France loomed surprisingly near, shrouded with a haze of dust and smoke from the night bombing attack. We were then well within range of enemy coastal batteries and I for one hoped we would not long delay our opening fire. We had not long to wait, however, as the main battery was trained on an enemy installation of casemated guns and the sound of the firing buzzer announced 'standby for opening salvo.' With a deafening roar we sent our salutation to Hitler's crowd on the beach. All around us ships of all nations were blasting away as we fired salvo after salvo while hundreds of landing craft moved shorewards.

"As you know, the army took the beach in stride and moved inland in high gear. We had a number of German prisoners aboard for a while. They didn't have the tough superman appearance the German propaganda experts would have us believe. A couple of nights we were sighted by JU-88 snipers but a lusty barrage of AA fire drove them off.

"The gun crews really enjoy throwing big stuff over here at the Germans and are getting worried for fear the war will be over for the navy and we will be left out at the finish. Anticipating this possible situation, the gunners are trying to catch up with the army and helping to have the engineers install chase Helms through the streets of wheels on the 'Arky' so we can 'Berlin'."

LETTERS TO AN AMERICAN FAMILY

No. 1

(Doylestown Intelligencer, Sept. 5th)

That's the way I would like to go sight-seeing with you through the large and extremely complicated subject of national affairs, pointing out to you the things I think are important, examining the topics in which you are especially interested—but leaving always to your own eyes and own judgment the decision of whether my opinions are correct.

Just as there is more to Paris than Eiffel Tower, more to New York than the Statue of Liberty, more to Washington than the Monument, so there is more to the New Deal than Social Security.

What I would like to do is to show you some of the other ways the Roosevelt Administration has affected you, and what could be expected during a Fourth Term.

It would add to your understanding of the political issues, I believe, for me to show you how the New Deal has changed your status as a citizen, how it has affected your actual income, what it is doing to your bank account and insurance and war bonds, how your homelife and activities are altered, how your children will be affected—including, of course, John, Jr., who will be mustered out of the army one of these days and come back to set up a home for his charming wife and that beautiful baby.

I wouldn't offer to inflict my ideas upon you if I did not know how deep is your interest in the subject. However, I shall wait to hear from you before really going into the matter.

If you think these letters would be helpful, not in the sense of my making up your mind for you, but in aiding you to reach wise decisions of your own, please let me know.

Your good friend,

THE REPUBLICAN.

WHEN THE BOYS COME MARCHING HOME

Right now is none too soon to start planning for their welcome. And more than their welcome . . . it is none too soon to start planning for their future.

At Philadelphia Electric this postwar planning is well under way. Our complete program has been carefully blueprinted and is ready to be put into operation on short notice.

With excellent after-the-war prospects in mind, we have prepared our plans. Included is the revival of those activities always considered part of our standard service but foregone for the duration because of shortages of material and manpower.

Rebuilding and replacing equipment, and new and extended facilities, are scheduled to start as soon as the shooting stops. Included is the completion of the Southwark Station, which was sidetracked by the war.

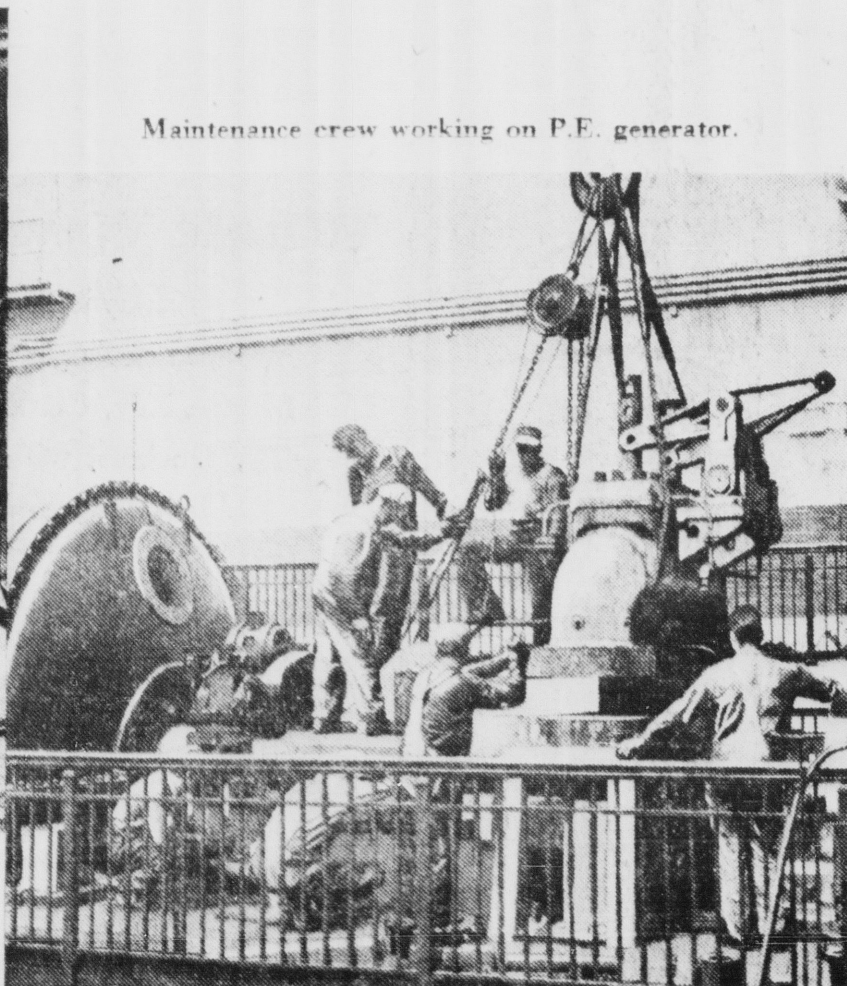

The keystone of this entire program is job security for our employees . . . jobs not only for the more than 1070 P.E. employees who have been furloughed to serve Uncle Sam (50 of whom already have been returned to our ranks), but also for our present personnel, whose steady and loyal work here on the home front has kept the supply of electricity adequate for all demands. Power has never been too little nor too late in the Philadelphia area, thanks to the efforts of these employees.

CLARK'S ARMY STORMS INTO LUCCA

Rome—American troops of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army stormed today into the town of Lucca, a stronghold of the Germans' Gothic line across northern Italy, while the Allied Eighth Army drove the enemy from the high ground approaches to the Marano river. Stiff fighting continued through the morning, however, with the Nazis hinging their defenses on the town of Coriano in the Adriatic sector. The Eighth Army, left in the wake of the Canadian units attacking northwest of Disano, took a half dozen small Adriatic coastal towns. The Fifth Army, moving ahead in the central sector and on the right flank, captured the heights of Mount Albano, six miles short of the important strategic center which is the main objective of Clark's forces.

AMERICAN PATROLS CROSS GERMAN BORDER

S. H. A. E. F.—American patrols were revealed today to have crossed the German border, ranged several miles inside German territory and then returned across the Moselle river to the main American lines. Troops of Lieut. Gen. Patton's Third Army, meanwhile, swarmed across the Moselle river despite heavy artillery fire from the German side, as bitter fighting flared up along the Moselle front. I. N. S. staff correspondents Pierre J. Huss, with the Third Army, reported that the Germans were putting up increasingly severe resistance in order to gain time for manning their Siegfried line defenses, where they are expected to make a major stand. Meanwhile, Lieut. Gen. Patch's Seventh Army, driving up the Saone Valley of central France, was reported less than 90 miles from a junction with Patton's forces. In Belgium, the Allies have occupied Gent (Ghent).

Free Engineer In Death Of Ananias A. Sellers

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 6.—Edwin A. Hermann, of Doylestown, was exonerated by a coroner's jury at the end of the week in the death of Ananias A. Sellers, New Britain. Sellers was struck by a train operated by Hermann on the Reading Railroad a mile from Sellers' home. Trooper Leland Emory, Penna. State Police, was the only witness besides Engineer Hermann to appear at the inquest held by Coroner J. Alfred Rigby, Sr., Cornwall Heights. Emory testified that he had talked with Sellers the day before his death and noted then that his hearing and sight were very good for a man 76 years of age. The trooper also described the scene of the incident and the position of the body. Hermann testified that he left Doylestown with the train at 7:45 a. m. and that he saw Sellers come out of some bushes and walk toward the track. He stated that he literally was hanging on to the whistle, but that Sellers continued toward the track and that when he saw that he was not stopping he applied both the brakes and the emergency brake. He did not see the car actually strike Sellers as he was on the opposite side of the track.

The finding of the jury was "that Ananias A. Sellers came to his death accidentally on July 11, 1944, when struck by a Reading Company train operated by Edwin A. Hermann in Bucks County, Penna. We hereby exonerate Edwin A. Hermann from all blame."

Members of the Coroner's jury were Edward B. VanSant, Harold Hellyer, Horace M. Mann, Wilmer Lowmes, Clarence Irwin and Leroy Brown.

RATIONING OF CANNED FOODS WILL VIRTUALLY END SEPTEMBER 17TH, IT IS STATED BY DIRECTOR JAMES A. BYRNES

By Frank B. Allen

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(INS)—War mobilization director James A. Byrnes disclosed today that rationing of canned foods will virtually be ended Sept. 17.

Byrnes said he was advised by War Food Administrator Marvin Jones that the following food items will be made point free:

Canned asparagus, beans (fresh lima), corn, peas, pumpkin, squash, mixed vegetables, baked beans, tomato sauce, tomato paste, tomato pulp or puree, soups, baby foods and all varieties of jams, jellies and fruit butters.

The main products remaining on the list of canned goods are tomatoes, fruits and some juices.

Processed food items already carrying a zero point value are grapefruit juice, orange-grape fruit juice, blended, orange juice, prune juice, green or waxed beans, carrots, spinach, greens, grape jam, preserves or marmalade, tomato jam, citrus marmalades, some fruit butters and dry beans.

Byrnes' announcement followed a conference last month with Jones to determine what foods could be removed from rationing. It contained a letter from Jones telling him of the decision and a communication to OPA chief Chester Bowles informing him of the conclusions. It is the responsibility of the WFA to determine ration policies.

"It is our view that there are ample available and prospective supplies of these products to justify removing them from the ration list," Jones said in his letter to Bowles.

Both Byrnes and Jones praised the job done by the nation's farmers and food processors.

"The release of the rationing restrictions on these foods has been

LETTERS TO AN AMERICAN FAMILY

No. 1

(Doylestown Intelligencer, Sept. 6th)

Dear John and Mary Citizen:—

It occurred to me after our brief chat on politics that you might be interested in having me set down some of the things which were in my mind when I made the remark which started the fireworks.

You remember of course what I said: "The average American citizen would certainly be against the New Deal if he realized how bad its effects have been upon him personally."

John, with his usual good humor but rather sharply just the same, retorted: "The big effect on me is that I work shorter hours for better pay, with a government check to tide me over if I lose my job."

Neither of you seemed to understand what I meant when I replied: "That's not the end of the story—it's only the beginning."

Now, I'd like to tell you the rest of the story, or perhaps I should say the other side of the story.

This would be a waste of time if I didn't know that your minds are open—that you are reading the newspapers and listening to the radio and talking things over with your friends whenever you have a chance; that you really are trying very hard, just like millions of other citizens, to decide whether the country would be better off if President Roosevelt were retired now, after his record-breaking twelve years in the presidency, and Gov. Dewey given a trial.

As you know, I've been interested in politics since I was a kid. It runs in the family. Some of my earliest recollections are torchlight processions and open-air political rallies while father was running for office, and the "shivarees" which would be held outside the homes of victorious candidates.

Since then it has been my good fortune to be fairly close to politics. As you know, a good deal of my newspaper experience and other occupations have taken me behind the scenes of various campaigns and administrations.

I don't mention these things with the idea you ought to take my word, blindly, about anything in politics. Both of you have too much commonsense to let anyone else make your judgments for you, especially on anything so important as the election this year.

But if you were going traveling, especially into a new and strange country, it would be helpful to have with you someone who had been there before. He could point out the things of interest which you might otherwise miss, and take you to the places you would want to visit by the shortest routes.

Burlington Lad Rescued By Two Bristol Youths

The final day of summer vacation for two local school boys gave them a chance yesterday to put their swimming prowess to good use.

The two, Joseph McGlain, 14, of Chestnut street, and Paul Melvin, 12, of Garden street, saved a Burlington, N. J., youth from drowning in the Delaware River.

The lad who was aided to shore by the Bristol boys informed him that he is James Stimson, aged 12. Stimson had been swimming about a boat a distance off-shore. As he started back he called for aid, yelling to those on the bank "I can't make it!" McGlain and Melvin lost no time in reaching his aide and pulled him ashore near the home of the Elks Lodge. Although conscious, Stimson required sometime to regain his breath and rest. He was then advised to go to his home at once.

He was accompanied by another Burlington lad, who was able to care only for himself when Stimson found himself in such a plight. The two stated that the tide was quite strong and difficult to battle at the time.

TOWEL RESTRICTION

In this most horrible of all wars, soldiers and sailors shed their blood and civilians shed tears and exude sweat. That was the program promised by the leaders of the Allies when they informed the world that they were adamant in their determination to rid the earth for all time of the scourge of the aggressors.

But to read of the latest misuse of the War Manpower Commission, it might be thought that the WMC had not even heard that civilians sweat and cry during the war, or to put the phrase into Basic English, that they shed eye water and face water. Otherwise how could the WMC have put into effect hotel restrictions which limit the guest to two face towels and to one bath towel a day?

One of the pleasant features of a modern hotel is the imposing array of face and bath towels to be found in the bathroom. At least, they are to be found there in ordinary times—say, between world wars. A hotel guest, returning from a day of "selling customers" or sightseeing, thinks first of removing from his person the grime and soot of the city and he looks with admiration upon a spic and span bathroom with its files of towels. After that he might have a drink and enjoy the hotel room itself.

Hotel architects still put most of their skill into planning courtly lobbies rather than into the designing of guest rooms, and while the latter are comfortable they are not all places of striking beauty. But how will the hotel guest view his passing abode now that bath and face towels are restricted to one and two daily, respectively?

The guest, grimy and sweaty from the burdens of the day, must contemplate using a bath towel still soggy from his morning ablution. He might still have a dry towel for his face, depending upon how the morning shaving went and whether he had a bang over when he brought the razor over the precipice of his protruding chin.

The more one thinks of this latest WMC dictum, the more speculative he is certain to become. Did the Office of Defense Transportation, which has had little luck in cutting down civilian travel, incite the War Manpower Commission to issue the order? If so, it is a stroke of genius—it might lead travelers to carry extra bath and face towels and do their own washing, thus relieving the overworked laundries. Or perhaps the WMC thinks the European war is drawing to a close and that the quantity of sweat and tears is about to be reduced.

Much was expected of Turkey when it broke with the Axis. To date only move has been to get a chair ready to be pulled up to the peace table.

Partial Demobilization Of Armies Planned

have first priority to be transported to the Pacific fronts.

4. Troops suited to Pacific warfare, no matter where now stationed, will remain in service as long as they are essential.

5. Most of the present air force and the service force will be transferred to the Pacific fronts.

6. American troops will remain in "inactive war zones in Europe in order to fulfill such occupation duties as are necessary.

7. Veterans of the Pacific war will benefit by the collapse of Germany and those with long service will be replaced by fresh troops from the states or Europe.

8. Demobilization of the WAC will follow the same pattern as that for the fighting forces, except that WACS whose husbands have been discharged will be released upon application.

The War Department, in the dramatic report, warned of some delay in the return of troops from Europe to the United States because ships will be needed to move "millions of fighting men" to the Pacific for the final assault against Japan.

The report also made no estimate of the number of soldiers to be discharged, when Germany collapses.

"It is emphasized that the rate of return of surplus men from overseas will depend upon the number of ships available," the War Department said.

"Thousands of ships will be required to supply the Pacific theater. The Pacific theater will have Number One priority. All else must wait. To it will be transported millions of fighting men, millions of tons of landing barges, tanks, planes, guns, ammunition and food, over longer supply lines than those to Europe.

As replacements become available from the ground forces and from new inductees the air and service forces "will discharge a fair share of men proportionate with the ground forces."

It was stated that surplus individuals declared non-essential to the needs of the army will be discharged through separation centers. Five of such centers are already in operation and additional ones will be set up when the need develops.

"A total of 18 in all parts of the country are contemplated," the War Department said. "Their wide distribution will enable us to discharge soldiers close to their homes."

The War Department explained that the successful operation of the morning orange juice was served the each one. At noon-time the cook plan requires that the troops themselves as well as the public be kept fully informed. It was pointed out that some men who might otherwise be released may be transferred hurriedly to the Pacific with a particular unit needed in that area.

"If military necessity should entail the immediate transfer of a unit to the Pacific, there may conceivably be no time to apply the plan to men of that unit before the emergency transfer is made," the War Department said. "Consideration will be given these men when they arrive in the new theater."

The War Department said that the military establishment that will be needed after the defeat of Germany "has been calculated with the same exactness as the size of the army needed up to now." The War Department concluded:

"No soldier will be kept in the military service who is not needed to fulfill these requirements. No soldier will be released who is needed.

"It must be borne in mind" always that the war will not be won, nor the peace enjoyed, until Japan has been completely crushed."

Downward Trend Continues In Public Aid Cases

The downward trend continues in the number of families seeking public aid in Pennsylvania, according to information given out by the Department of Public Assistance.

During July 4,859 applications for assistance were received in the 67 county assistance offices, a decrease of 369 from the previous month, it is said.

Bucks County during July had a total of 756 cases, with a total of 964 persons.

One hundred and five were receiving blind pensions at that time.

CANADIAN PATROLS REACH DOVER COAST

With the Canadian Army in France, Canadian patrols have reached the Straits of Dover coast both east and west of Calais. The patrols will be within sight of Britain from the other side for the first time in four years.

Calais itself has not been entered, however. Other Canadian units are within one and a half miles of Boulogne. Polish armor is on the outskirts of Saint Omer.

Canadian and British troops of the First Canadian Army are still infesting Le Havre.

CHIANG SAYS WAR IN CHINA IS IN DECISION STAGE

Chungking—The war in China has reached its decision stage, Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek asserted today in a strong appeal before China's war-time Parliament, the people's political council for national unity.

"Our reverses and problems can be turned into a valuable lesson for winning the war and the completion of our national reconstruction," the General declared.

The Chinese high command meanwhile reported enemy troops pushing southwest from Hengyang toward the Kwangsi border are now only 19 miles from Chungking, but that Chinese troops had checked a Jap advance 39 miles east of Paoching.

and then from the island in a canoe furnished by natives. For 15 days they were at sea, but finally a British destroyer picked them up. Later O'Neill was transferred to an American cruiser and taken to Sydney, Australia. A little later he was sent to England. Due to his experience in fighting he was sent to take part in the African campaign, and on Hill 609 received his third wound of the war.

He emphasized the good fighting ability of the Japanese and also their very inhuman acts of torture.

Several guests were present at the meeting, namely: Otto Grupp, Bristol club; Andrew J. Chamberlin and Elwood L. Burton, Morrisville club; the Rev. Howard W. Adams, of the Pocono Mountain district; and Carl Aasberg, Eddington.

Next week local club members expect to hear Thomas Skillman, Jr., who heads an unusual business at Narberth.

Dear Father, we thank thee for the completeness of our salvation in Jesus Christ. As our Saviour He redeems our souls; as our Physician He redeems our bodies and as our Teacher He redeems our minds. With the opening of our schools we thank thee for secular education. We thank thee for its goal of high character; moral rectitude and more perfect human relations. We sincerely pray that the goal of life may become the goal of both secular and Christian education, namely, to "Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man." To that Scriptural end we commend our children to thy fatherly care. We beseech thee that thy Spirit may dwell in their hearts. Give to parents and teachers understanding hearts, that they may lead the young in thy ways throughout this new school year. Hear us, Lord Jesus, Amen.

EXTRA ARE YOU HELPING TO MAKE VICTORY HEADLINES?

You can help supply those materials by working at the ROHM & HAAS PLANT IN BRISTOL.

You can know the thrill of actually helping to make Plexiglas canopies for such well-known airplanes as the Republic "Thunderbolt," the Navy's Curtis "Hell Diver" and the famed Grumman "Wildcat."

GIRLS' ALL-STARS
OUT FOR REVENGE;
TO PLAY TRENTON

Game To Be Played Tomorrow Night on High School Field Here

STARTS AT 6 O'CLOCK

Trenton Team Won Last Game So Bristol is Eager For Victory

With revenge in their eyes, the Bristol All-Stars girls' softball team will return to the Bristol high school field tomorrow evening to meet the Trenton All-Stars. Game will begin at six o'clock.

The Trenton All-Stars conquered the Bristolians, 7-3, on Wetzel Field, Trenton, last week. It was the local's only defeat of the curtailed season so George T. Moran, president of the Girls' Industrial Softball Association, who is in charge of the bookings for the Bristol lassies, immediately arranged for a return game here.

Captain Theresa Gallagher, also the third-sacker, will lead the local-ites in their efforts to avenge last week's loss and also add a win to the list which includes the SPARS and the Women's Reserve, U. S. Marines. It was announced last night that Stella Klemczak will do the hurling for Bristol with Rita McHugh being her battery mate. Manager Frank Field is undecided on the remainder of his line-up.

The Trenton team is composed of players from the Trenton Industrial and the Trenton Playground League. It is a hard-hitting array from top to bottom as was evidenced in last week's contest when the Jersey lassies made several extra base hits.

Rationing of Canned Foods
Will Virtually End Sept. 17

made possible by the magnificent production job done by our farmers and by the processors of food," said Byrnes, who also congratulated Jones on the accomplishments of WFA.

"Despite the heavy requirements we have had to meet in supplying food to our armed forces and our Allies, the people at home will in 1944 consume about seven or eight percent more food than they did in the pre-war 1935-39 period," he continued.

Jones said it is inevitable that there will be surplus stocks of food when the war ends, just as there will be surplus guns, planes and tanks.

"Much of this food is of a perishable or semi-perishable nature," he said. "While some surpluses and some losses will be inevitable, we feel that all reasonable steps should be taken to bring as much of this food as possible into the channels of use, and to avoid, as far as it is practicable to do so, any accumulation of excess stocks or waste of food."

Court Plans To Dispose
Of 24 Cases at Session

Elizabeth S. Wessaw, of Middletown Township, from Leroy Harry Wessaw, of Langhorne, on grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment. They were married September 26, 1938, at Elkton, Md.

Ardin L. Watt, of 616 Pond street, Bristol, from Kathryn Estelle Watt, on grounds of desertion. Joseph V. Ventura, of Bristol township, from Frances F. Ventura, of New York, on grounds of indignities to the person and cruel and barbarous treatment. They were married July 25, 1943, at New York City.

Sadie E. Smith, of 173 Washington street, Doylestown, from Wilmer E. Smith, Buckingham township, on grounds of indignities to the person. They were married September 9, 1918, at Doylestown.

Dorothy Dawson Taifer, Doylestown, from Edgar Taifer, Doylestown, on grounds of indignities to the person. They were married April 8, 1924, at Klamath Falls, Oregon.

Myrtle S. Vearrindy, of 1 East Center avenue, Willow Grove, from George P. Vearrindy, of South Main street, Doylestown. They were married June 1, 1935, at Doylestown.

Judge Hiram H. Keller, sitting as chancellor in equity court yesterday in the adjudication of the case of the Rubber Processing Company, of Chester, against MacEwan & Smith, Inc., of Doylestown, handed down a decree nisi in which the court disallowed the defendant's counter-claim and directed that the Doylestown rubber plant of MacEwan & Smith, defendants, pay the costs of the suit.

The plaintiff asked for an accounting and such further equitable relief as the facts would warrant. The claim was based upon two agreements for royalties to be paid by the defendant for the exclusive license to use a secret process known as the "adhesion process" for causing rubber to adhere to metal. The defendant filed an answer and counter-claim.

Judge Keller ruled that the defendant pay to the plaintiff its share of the net profits for the year ended December 31, 1942, the sum of $4,930, with interest. The court also ruled that the defendant file a revised accounting to the plaintiff in accordance with the chancellor's conclusions for the year ended December 31, 1942.

Judge Keller yesterday handed down an opinion in the case of the United Sand & Gravel Company against the Bucks County Commissioners, an appeal from the decision of the Commissioners acting as a board of revision of taxes for 1943. Judge Keller sustained the appeal and the action of the County Commissioners in reducing the assessment of the lots enumerated in the appeal from $200 to $100 each. In the Orphans' Court, Judge Keller handed down an opinion in the case of Estate of Henry M. Heist, late of Milford township—a petition to terminate a trust. The court directed "that the petition of Florence M. Hazlett to terminate the trusts mentioned and the principal thereof to be paid to the petitioner is denied, and the proceedings were ordered dismissed."

Lower Bucks Countians On
Army Hospital Personnel

Two lower Bucks Countians are among the personnel of one of the U. S. Army hospitals in England where American soldiers wounded in France undergo treatment as capable and modern as any first class civilian hospital in the world. They are: PFC James J. Winder, Fallington; and Pvt. Harry F. Stradling, Sr., Morrisville.

The hospital has a special distinction, however, it is said, inasmuch as it serves as a clearing station for badly wounded soldiers who are en route to the United States for extended periods of treatment necessary to prepare them for civilian life again.

It is the duty of the hospital's medical and surgical staff to make certain that every man leaving the hospital has already been embarked on therapy which is to be continued in the United States.

The treasurer was authorized to transfer $10,498.75 from the general fund to the sinking fund to mature bonds and pay interest.

Robert C. Ruehl, chairman of property committee, reported on the completion of improvements at the Bath street building.

They decided to advertise for bids for painting the interior and exterior of the Washington street school building.

It was reported that the Wood street building had been re-wired and that the arrival of new lighting fixtures was being awaited.

A check for $50 for the proposed new athletic field was received as a gift from the Class of 1944.

The Board appropriated the sum of $100 to the fund of the proposed athletic field in lieu of gift books which are usually made to the graduating class, but which were omitted this year.

A letter of appreciation was received from the Hunter Manufacturing Company for use of the high school field.

Uses of the high school building for Penn State classes on Monday and Wednesday evenings was granted for extension classes. Registration will be received September 25th and 26th.

while, we were joined by men-of-war of both our own and other nations. As we plowed onward I wondered if the enemy realized when or where we were about to strike and would he be ready to 'take it' and 'dish it out.'

"During the night many shapeless, obscure forms of transports and landing craft were overtaken and left behind in the darkness as we moved into our forward and final position. Angry rumblings of bomb bursts and flashes of fire came from the distant area as bombers unloaded their deadly cargo. Swarms of bombers, fighters and troop transport planes dived overhead passing to and from the engaged area.

"When the skies began to glow just before dawn, we found ourselves surrounded with ships and landing craft of all descriptions, while the shores of France loomed surprisingly near, shrouded with a haze of dust and smoke from the night bombing attack. We were then well within range of enemy coastal batteries and I for one hoped we would not long delay our opening fire. We had not long to wait, however, as the main battery was trained on an enemy installation of casemated guns and the sounding of the firing buzzer announced 'standby for opening salvo.' With a deafening roar we sent our salutation to Hitler's crowd on the beach. All around us ships of all nations were blasting away as we fired salvo after salvo while hundreds of landing craft moved shorewards.

"As you know, the army took the beach in stride and moved inland in high gear. We had a number of German prisoners aboard for a while. They didn't have the tough superman appearance the German propaganda experts would have us believe. A couple of nights we were sighted by JU-88 snoopers but a lusty barrage of AA fire drove them off.

"The gun crews really enjoy throwing big stuff over here at the Germans and are getting worried for fear the war will be over for the navy and we will be left out at the finish. Anticipating this possible situation, the gunners are trying to catch up with the army and helping to have the engineers install chase Heines through the streets of wheels on the 'Arky' so we can 'Berlin.'

LETTERS TO AN AMERICAN FAMILY

No. 1

(Doylestown Intelligencer, Sept. 6th)

That's the way I would like to go sight-seeing with you through the large and extremely complicated subject of national affairs, pointing out to you the things I think are important, examining the topics in which you are especially interested—but leaving always to your own eyes and own judgment the decision of whether my opinions are correct.

Just as there is more to Paris than Eiffel Tower, more to New York than the Statue of Liberty, more to Washington than the Monument, so there is more to the New Deal than Social Security.

What I would like to do is to show you some of the other ways the Roosevelt Administration has affected you, and what could be expected during a Fourth Term.

It would add to your understanding of the political issues, I believe, for me to show you how the New Deal has changed your status as a citizen, how it has affected your actual income, what it is doing to your bank account and insurance and war bonds, how your homelife and activities are altered, how your children will be affected—including, of course, John, Jr., who will be mustered out of the army one of these days and come back to set up a home for his charming wife and that beautiful baby.

I wouldn't offer to inflict my ideas upon you if I did not know how deep is your interest in the subject. However, I shall wait to hear from you before really going into the matter.

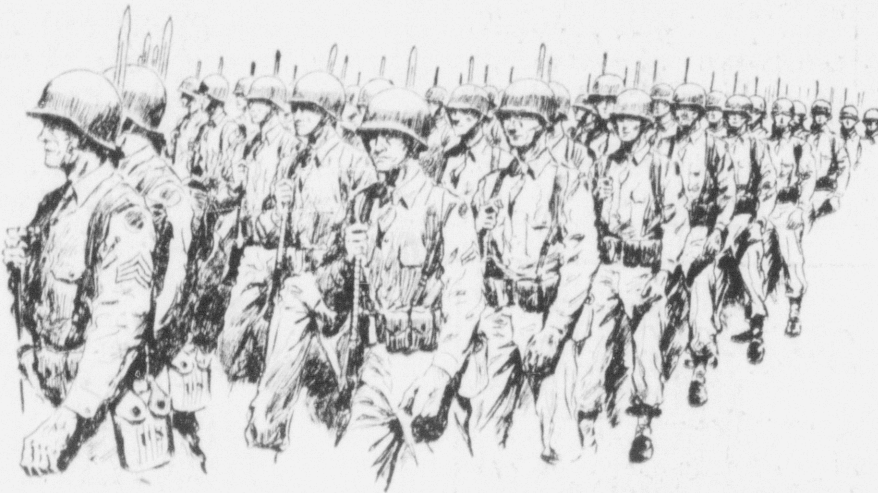

If you think these letters would be helpful, not in the sense of my making up your mind for you, but in aiding you to reach wise decisions of your own, please let me know.

Your good friend,
THE REPUBLICAN.

WHEN THE BOYS COME MARCHING HOME

Right now is none too soon to start planning for their welcome. And more than their welcome . . . it is none too soon to start planning for their future.

At Philadelphia Electric this postwar planning is well under way. Our complete program has been carefully blueprinted and is ready to be put into operation on short notice.

With excellent after-the-war prospects in mind, we have prepared our plans. Included is the revival of those activities always considered part of our standard service but foregone for the duration because of shortages of material and manpower.

Rebuilding and replacing equipment, and new and extended facilities, are scheduled to start as soon as the shooting stops. Included is the completion of the Southwark Station, which was sidetracked by the war.

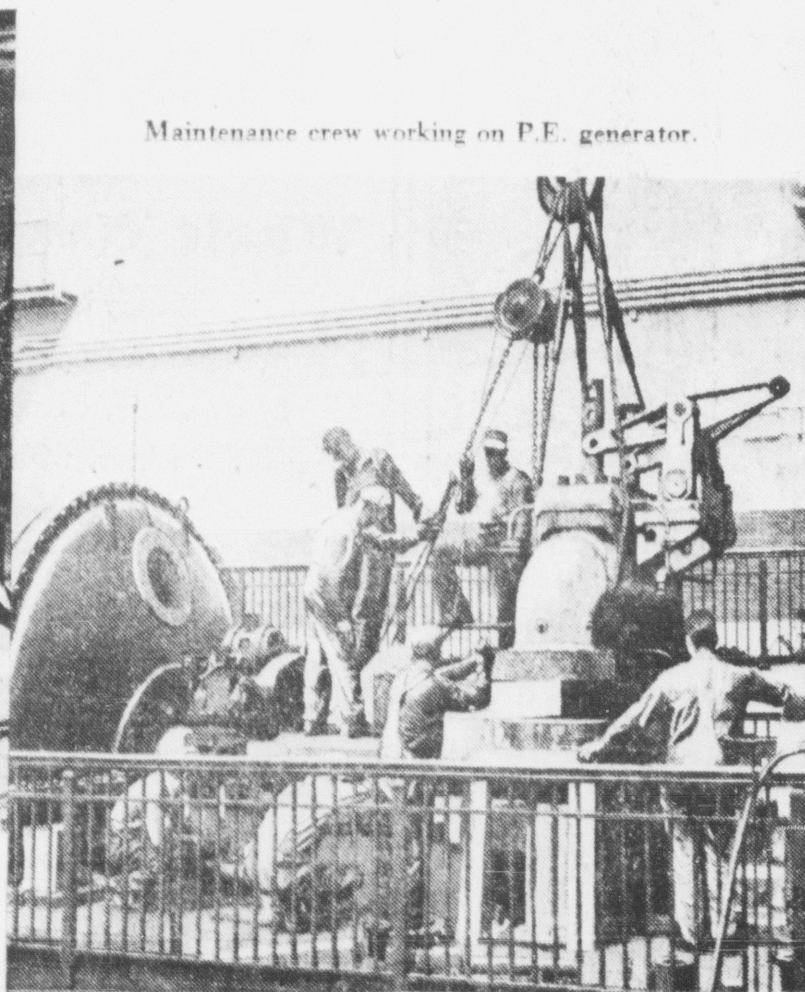

The keystone of this entire program is job security for our employees . . . jobs not only for the more than 1070 P.E. employees who have been furloughed to serve Uncle Sam (50 of whom already have been returned to our ranks), but also for our present personnel, whose steady and loyal work here on the home front has kept the supply of electricity adequate for all demands. Power has never been too little nor too late in the Philadelphia area, thanks to the efforts of these employees.
